‘Education policy should give equal opportunity to all’

Bijapur Mirror: BIJAPUR; 13 Nov: Abdul Raheem, Lecturer of Political Science, Aligarh Muslim University has opined that by appointing eligible experts in different premier educational institutions of the country, quality of the education could be upheld.

Speaking at the National Education Day programme organised by A. R. S. Inamdar college of girls of SECAB institution, he said that the dream of Former Education Minister, Abul Kalam Azad was also that he wanted to give importance of education. National Education Day is celebrated on mark the birth anniversary of Azad who brought revolution in education sector in India.

“This is also the day to recall the contribution of Azad in the field of education and literacy”, he said.

Regretting that the higher education sector in the country is facing crises, he noted that those who are responsible for creating education policies should make sure that people of all communities and religions are considered in the policy for giving equal opportunities in education.

In his address Riyza Faruqui, one of the senior functionaries of the institution said that it was Azad who gave strong foundation to premier organizations in India such as UGC, IITs, IIMs and various educational institutions. “These institutions helped in creating acclaimed scientists and educationists who made mark in the world”, he said.

Principal, Mohammed Afzal, C. L. Patil and other staff members were present.
